Annoying Kidney Pills

Make Life Miserable for Many Norway People

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have given peace and comfort to many Norway people. Profit by this Norway resident's experience.

John F. Sampson, prop. painting estab. 174 Main St., says: "I was feeling run down and miserable. I was tired and nervous and my kidneys didn't act regularly. At times the secretions passed too frequently, then again they were scanty. My head ached night and day. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills so I sent to Stone's Drug Store for them. When I had finished taking Doan's, the trouble left and I have not been bothered since. I can certainly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone afflicted likewise."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sampson had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mrs., Buffalo, N. Y. 29-30

WHEN DAD AND MUM WERE KIDS

I've heard a lot 'bout the good ol' days When Dad and Mum were kids, When they called songs with stories "lays," And never called hats "tids."

When they had fun for fifteen cents And dared not ask for more And the snow drifts covered the highest fence; And those good ol' days of yore.

And now it's haying out or hear Dad talk about the fun They used to have in the haystacks near When the hot day's work was done.

How they jumped and played and scrambled there In the sweetness of the hay, Then they blame it all on us, they are, For the dullness of today!

Gee, I'd like to play in haystacks, too, But the side rake that they pry Rakes up that joy right in front of you! If things have changed, now, tell me why? They used to leave it out all night To dry 'neath the summer moon And now, tho' it doesn't seem quite right They can't get it in too soon.

MAKE YOUR HOME COZY AND WARM EVEN ON THE COLDEST WINTER NIGHTS

Through the chill of the first fall frosts; through the bleakest of winter days and nights when the snow is deep and the wind howls; and on into spring when the chill of melting snow still lingers in the air—the Andes will give you perfect heat comfort.

Not only will an Andes keep your home cozy and warm, but it will also save fuel money.

The Andes System One Pipe Furnace is really a remarkable heating system. It begins with the money you save when you first buy it, for, compared to other heating systems, it is a very inexpensive furnace to buy.

There will be a factory demonstrator in Norway and vicinity, July 17th.

TAXATION AND HIGH COST OF LIVING

The Marblehead, Mass. tax rate for 1922 is $29 on $1,000 of valuation. The Brookline tax rate is $21.70, an increase from last year. The taxpayers in the latter city are kicking because they think that it is altogether too high. How would they feel if they were in Norway and Paris and some other towns in Maine, where the rate is more than twice over what it is in Brookline?—News Item and Comment.

President Harding says that the tax burden upon the people must not be increased but what will he do about it? Will he veto such measures as the projected bonus and tariff bills? The crisis of the administration is at hand with the railroad and coal strikes to handle and the several blocks in Congress who are bent on keeping up prices to the detriment of the best interests of the country and have forgot the promises to bring back normal conditions to deal with. He has a pretty tough job before him. If his backbone is of sufficient consistency, he will lose no time in letting mobs and assassins understand that troops will be used to maintain the authority of the government in protecting life and property and the small bore politicians who slipped into Congress on the tidal wave of 1920 that he will not be trifled with, but will veto every one of their iniquitous measures.

There is a great unrest everywhere and it grows in volume and intensity. The people are tired of promises made before election, to be entirely disregarded after getting into office. This is not confined to one party alone. It seems to be a condition of mind of the wire-pulling politician to procure a fat job by promising everything asked for. The one today who can accomplish something produces results, stands for measures demanded by the times, who is thoroughly honest, trustworthy and capable is the kind of person to elect to office. Look over the candidates and see how many come up to this standard.—Comment.

Here is an illustration of why prices of some things are up among the clouds. In the emergency tariff law, the duty on scoured wool is 45 cents a pound. This adds $1.80 to the raw material in a suit of clothes. The wool imported into the U. S. is largely from South America. The buyer will add something to this extra sum when he sells to the spinner. The latter will add to his extra outlay and this is repeated by all others, through whose hands the cloth and finished product go till the consumer is reached. It is a splendid system for everyone in the chain but the consumer and he is expected to submit to being skinned. A tariff pretty close to free trade for a period would knock the "stuffing" and iniquity out of the whole business.—News Comment.

Senator kills dye embargo by a vote of 38 to 22. Fourteen republicans vote with the democrats. Moses of N. H. one of the 14.—News Item.

The Wentworth Poultry Fountain

We have recently perfected and are now offering a new fountain or watering system known as THE WENTWORTH POULTRY FOUNTAIN. It has been developed with the idea of lessening the spread of diseases through the drinking of contaminated or impure water. The fountain or main body of water is entirely separate from the drinking vessel. Water is automatically drawn from the fountain and maintained at any predetermined depth in the drinking vessel. It will thus be seen that it is impossible for the main body of water to become contaminated, for it does not come in direct contact with water in the drinking vessel. The object, therefore, of the fountain is to automatically supply fresh pure water as required by the birds, and its advantages are as follows:

FIRST—The Drinking Vessel, being separate from the main body of water, may be rinsed or disinfected at will without interfering with the fountain or main water supply.

SECOND—There are no float valves, air tight caps, or anything of the sort to get out of order. Its construction is simple; its operation is positive and pleasing.

THIRD—It is durable—will last a lifetime, and is inexpensive.

Three Gallon Size, $1.85 Five Gallon Size, $2.45

Note: Parcel postage for any point in New England or New York State, 10 cents extra.

LOCKE'S MILLS

Scouts Great Hikers
The Locke's Mills Boy Scouts have made an extra good record in hiking since last summer. This troop has been on 7 hikes to various outlying points of interest. Each hike has been emphasized by some special phase of Scouting and each boy has returned home ahead of the game. The trips have been as follows: Overnight hike to Sunday River and Mount Spec; Three Day Camping Trip on Island in Dudley Lake (winter); Overnight Hike to Overset Pond (late fall); Day Hike to Buck Lodge, skis and snowshoes; Day Hike to Mt. Abram, skis and snowshoes; Overnight Endurance Hike to Overset Pond, skis, snowshoes, toboggan; Overnight Hike to Beaver Dam, Milton, (spring).

These hikes have been well attended and have proved mighty interesting. The different activities have been Nature Study, Outdoor Cooking, Camping, First Aid, Signaling, Trail Building, and Athletics. The Locke's Mills troop is one of the foremost troops in the county in all branches of Scouting. Every member is alive and pushing to put Locke's Mills to the head in the County. Lee Pettingill, Supt. of the Spool Mill is the Scoutmaster and under his leadership this troop is on a steady gain.

DISTINGUISHED CHINESE LECTURER ON CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

One of the finest numbers on the Chautauqua program at the Fair grounds will be the lecture to be given by Dr. William Hung. Dr. Hung is one of the most eminent Chinese in America and is the son of the well-known scholar and statesman, the late Honorable Hoong Hec of Shantung, China. Although he has been in America but five years, he has received degrees from Ohio, Wesleyan and Columbia Universities, and has been elected to membership in several learned societies. He is one of the organizers of the Bureau of Chinese Information in New York. The problem of furthering friendly relations between China and America has been one of Dr. Hung's chief interests since he has been in this country.

The subject of Dr. Hung's lecture will be "China in the World Drama." He has achieved remarkable popularity as a lecturer, not only because he brings first hand information about a subject in which the world is now interested, but also because he is an impassioned orator with an enviable command of English and irresistible. Immediately upon completing his Chautauqua engagements, Dr. Hung will sail for China where he will take up his duties as professor of history in the University of Peking.

OXFORD COUNTY SCOUT CAMP TO BE LARGEST IN MAINE

The opening date, July 24th, of the Oxford County Scout Camp is drawing near with a registration of strong 150. Every town in Scouting is well represented and new boys are signing up all the time. Camp enthusiasm is making red hot and the future outlook for this year's camp is a Charter Registration of Two Hundred members. The following is a list of the Directors of the O. C. S. Camp: Camp Director—Harold C. Perham, West Paris. Asst. Camp Director—Leslie Ferguson, Rumford Falls. Athletic Director—Ronald Perham West Paris. Swim and Boat Director—Carleton Andrews, Lewiston. Commissary Director—Charles Leonard, Andover. Sanitation Dept.—Dr. F. Willard, Bryant's Pond; Dr. L. W. Wight, Bethel. Everyone will sleep under canvas and on regulation Army cots. There will be a regular program for each day. Medical inspection will be held at least twice a week and in charge of competent doctors. Immediate First Aid will be in charge of Camp Master and Assistant. All rulings made will be enforced to the letter and every person used exactly "on the square." The idea is to give every fellow a "corking good time" while in camp and have him feel that he is taking away from camp considerable more than he entered with.

WEST POLAND

Mrs. Ralph Robinson is entertaining company from away.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cummings, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Merrill and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Glover motored to Freeport, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold George of Waltham visited at the home of his grandfather C. E. George, recently.

Dorothy Fish married Stanley Bass in Brooklyn the other day. Dorothy did well, considering the number of gar, blue gills and suckers there are about.

What housewives wanted

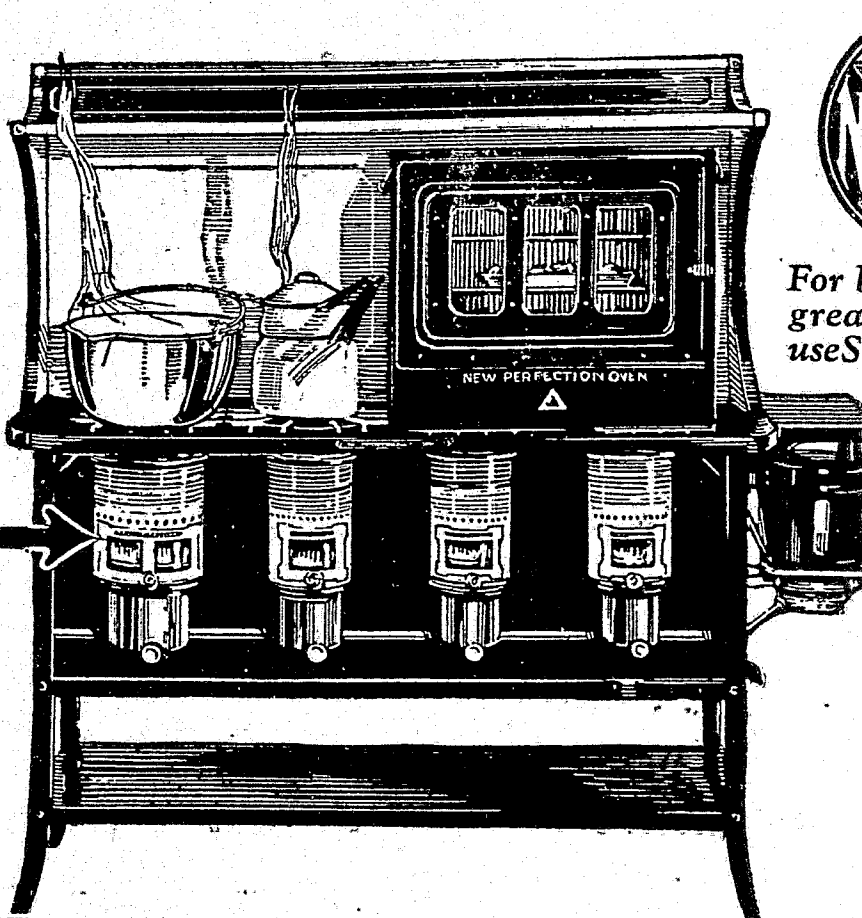

An oil range that has the cooking speed of gas and is always reliable

THE manufacturers of the famous New Perfection cook stove now offer such an oil range to the public. It has been made possible by the invention of an entirely new type of burner—the Superflex.

This latest and vastly improved New Perfection Oil Cook Stove matches the cooking speed of gas, and at the same time increases the well-known economy and convenience of cooking with kerosene. Double-walled, double draft burners, giving 20% increased efficiency. New automatic wick stop. Unbeatable for the exact adjustment of steady heat—everything from a simmering stew to a quick, juicy grill.

The many advantages that have made New Perfection Oil Cook Stoves the choice of over 4,000,000 housewives have been brought one step nearer perfection in this new model. And remember there's no coal, wood or ashes to carry when you use a New Perfection—no kindling litter to clean up, no stove blacking to do.

For best results and greatest economy use Socony Kerosene

Mrs. Adams, who is boarding with Mrs. Charles Marston, has gone to her home in Portland for a few days.

Mrs. Lois Littlefield is stopping at her son's, Jesse Littlefield's.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Morton were at Norway, Friday.

Horace Edwards of South Paris has been working for Harry Brown, piping the new dry house and boarding at Jesse Littlefield's.

Mr. and Mrs. Hersey Saunders of So. Paris have been guests at his brother's, Arthur Saunders.

Jesse Littlefield has purchased a fine player piano of Mrs. Hattie Haskell.

Albany Line

Flint's Dance Team played at Greenwood City to a good sized crowd of dancers, Saturday night, the 15th. They are booked for a return date. This orchestra plays at Bolster's Mills Thursday, the 20th, and for the Grange Spasm, Saturday evening, July 22nd.

Ernest Cross and family of Portland visited his aunt, Mrs. Jas. Kimball, Sunday.

Flint Bros., Leslie Hobson and E. K. Shedd are changing work in haying as usual.

Mrs. R. B. Penfold and son Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lord and daughter Ruth of South Paris called on their mother, Mrs. E. K. Shedd, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sands, who have been stopping with Mrs. Sam's daughter, Mrs. O'Neil Mills, for a time, have purchased a place in Mechanic Falls and are moving there this week. John McAllister moves them.

A number from this way, attended the auction Saturday in Yaggeer Neighborhood. Dana Stuart was auctioneer and Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Lyman Shedd were clerks. Everything sold as usual for a good price with Stuart auctioneers.

Zenas Mills and son are helping Oniel Mills do his haying.

E. K. Shedd bought two hogs of Calvert Fullerton last week.

Harry McKean is buying eggs and poultry and paying highest cash prices for them. He caters to the city boarders through the summer.

Herman Bennett and Leon Kimball are changing work in haying.

Mr. Kimball had the misfortune to get badly bitten on both hands by a pet coon recently while trying to cage him. They did not want to lose him as he has been with them over a year and was a great pet, going about like a dog. He would wash at the sink like a person.

William Fisk has had a new garage built. L. Flint did the carpenter work. It is painted red and a very nice building.

Henry Durgin and Frank Hatch are helping Roland Littlefield in haying.

Mrs. Leland Waterhouse, Mrs. Lois Littlefield and Lillian Young have been visiting at Roland Littlefield's the past week.

Lee Lord is visiting his father, Walter Lord, a few days.

Mrs. Henry Durgin and little children called on Mrs. E. K. Shedd one day this week. Mr. Durgin bought a fine Holstein cow of James Kimball last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marston visited Mr. and Mrs. John Jones at Hunt's Corner over the week end.

David McAllister, Jr., has been very ill, so a physician was called.

Charles Berry has finished a fine piazza for E. K. Shedd and has moved onto the farm on Abbott Hill with Ezra Lebroke.

Mr. Lebroke bought two cows of Ernest Brown, and some hens. He has done a lot of repairing on his buildings on the hill. It is a very pretty place and very pleasant.

Blueberries are quite plenty. Some hood crops are a failure.

Harry Brown's trucks are hauling spool stock from James Stone's mills in Albany to his spool mill in North Waterford.

Ernest Wentworth bought two Holstein cows at the auction in Waterford, Saturday.

FRYEBURG

Fish Street Mrs. Sarah Gray of Harbor was in this place calling on friends Friday.

Virginia Bell and Elinor Goodrich visited Mrs. Frances Eastman Thursday.

Mrs. Charles Mead of Peabody, Mass., was the recent guest of her sister, Mrs. Elinor Baker.

Evelyn Baker is spending her vacation in Jackson, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hutchins and daughter, Louise, of Chicago were recent guests at his brother's, A. L. Hutchins.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Farrington, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Charles and Hester Charles, also Mark Charles of Hill N. H. motored through Fryeburg and Denmark calling on friends Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kimball with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smart, Harold and Richard, came as their guests motored to Jackson Sunday.

Helen Baker has returned home from Jackson after a most delightful visit. Everyone is haying and no one wants to lay in the shade as the mosquitoes are plentiful.

If you think before you speak, probably there won't be much said.

BRYANT'S POND

Locke's Mills 9; Woodstock 4

Woodstock A. C. journeyed to Locke's Mills last Saturday, where they were defeated 9-4. The home team played under the name of Locke's Mills but was hardly recognizable, due to the number of imported players. A sharp double play in the third kept Locke's Mills from scoring but they broke loose in the fifth with five runs. In the "lucky seventh" W. A. C. scored three runs driving Clifford from the box. In the eighth inning splendid catches of vicious line drives were made by H. Farnum, E. Perham and Billings, which retired the batsmen in order. W. A. C. outbatted their opponents, but errors at critical stages cost them the game. Rowe batted well for the home team while Billings played a stellar game for Woodstock. The score:

COUNTRYSIDE RAMBLE

One of the common little adventures of a countryside ramble is to come upon some abandoned cellar holes. The house which once stood there was perhaps destroyed by fire years ago and has been forgotten. Nothing remains now to tell the tale but the empty, gaping excavation in which young birches and tall Joe-Pye weeds have taken root, and the crumbling underpinning. The remains of an old chimney, perhaps, suggests something of the life that was.

Inevitably there will be found beside the sunken doortone some old flowering shrub—a lilac, most likely. Tiger lilies still bloom beside what was once a path to the road. Johnny-jump-ups, those hardy little reverted pasies, show where there was once a flower bed, with perhaps a sweet-william or two whose roots have survived the vicissitudes of time.

The life of the house has departed. All the dreams and plans, the labor and worry, have been wiped out. Only that remains which was once tended for no utilitarian purpose but only for its beauty, lovingly tended by hands now dust. There is something symbolic about these old flowers. They hide the wounds of frustrated hopes. Love, it appears, lasts longest.

There are many of these cellar holes in New England and New Hampshire has her share. Wherever one goes they are in evidence. The cause is in many instances a fire which destroyed the home, and no attempt was made to rebuild, simply because of the prohibitive cost, a lack of money, or the lure of the big city, where good wages made easy living. The Rambler never sees one of these without thinking of the things which may have taken place upon the spot in former years. He can easily imagine the young man and woman coming to the newly erected house, perhaps not very pretentious in appearance, the establishment of a home, probably at first devoid of most of the comforts and some of the necessities of life. Then followed the effort to make a living, the hard work of both man and woman, the coming of the first child, hailed with joy, and followed by others, the growing up of the family, all the education possible given the boys, but very little to the girls. Grown up, the young people seek homes of their own, some near by, as was the custom an hundred years ago, later leaving the homes to go to the cities; then followed the period of loneliness for the old father and mother, the homecoming of the children, all together at Thanksgiving or Christmas, or perchance one by one. The inevitable death of the old people, the passing of the farm into the hands of strangers, only to have the same scenes re-enacted over and over again. At last there comes desertion and the old buildings gradually fall into decay. A clapboard falls off, the shingles come out, beams thrust out, old memories are forgotten, gradual decay works its ruin, the last of the timbers disappear and only the stone foundation and the hole in the ground remain. Or it may be, the whole destruction comes about in the brief period of time necessary for fire.

And so one might go on without limit, imagining what has taken place on the thousands of abandoned cellar holes. Some would tell a story of hate, many of sickness, accident, tragedy, every thing which enters into the life of a community, enacted and re-enacted again and again in the past years, but all leading to the time when destruction came and the home was destroyed. But not all of the sad things should be considered. We might well pause a moment to think of the men and women who have gone out of these homes, out by the training there obtained have built cities, established large businesses, built railroads, and done other great things in the world. Some have established schools and colleges. Others have made the great churches in our cities, built hospitals and wrought mightily for the good of mankind. All these had their first conception in the homes which covered the cellar holes now so much in evidence as one travels along the country road. These places have done their part in the drama of life, they will never be used again.—Franklin Journal.

BOISLER'S MILLS

Rev. T. C. Chapman of Norway will deliver a sermon Sunday at Boisler's Mills under the direction of the W. C. T. U.

ASTRONOMICAL MEASUREMENTS

As miles are inconvenient for measurements of sidereal or celestial dimensions, other standards are adopted.

An astronomical unit is the distance from the sun to the earth (93,000,000 miles).

A Light Year is another standard, the distance light travels in one year of time, or 5,869,696,000,000 miles.

Light from the sun to the earth requires a little over 8 minutes of time to travel. Neptune would be reached in 4½ hours.

The Parsec (word not found in the dictionaries) is 3 1-5 light years and 1 second of parallax. A star that has moved 1 second of parallax, has moved 1 part of the 1,296,000 seconds which is in a circle (of 360 degrees) at 3 1-5 light years away.

The Serionometer being equal to 10,000,000 astronomical units.

The Stellar Year being equal to 10,000,000 years of time.

Extreme limit of naked eye stars is 260 parsecs or 832 light years stars.

These terms fixed in the mind can be used as easily as are rods, acres and miles are used for measurement and are aids to the comprehension of the distances of the objects in the sky. According to H. A. Shapley, an authority on the subject, our galaxy is spread out in the form of a flat circular disk or lens shape, with a diameter of perhaps 300,000 light years and a thickness of 10,000 light years. This system includes all the Milky Way.

It is indicated by measurements, that the sun is 50,000 light years from the center of this system.

At this time of the year, July, the group of stars in the southern heavens is in the constellation Scorpion. It may be identified by the figure "scythe and snail." A red star in the handle of the scythe is a first magnitude star, flanked on either side by stars. The scythe is lying on its side and the point of the scythe is pointing upward. East of Antares is the red planet Mars, which is placed favorably for observation.

TAKE FIRE OUT OF STORED HAY

The risk of fire from spontaneous combustion in mows and stacks may be done away with almost entirely if hay is put up only when properly cured, says United States Department of Agriculture. To the chemist and bacteriologist there is nothing mysterious about these fires. The heating process begins as fermentation produced by the growth of bacteria in moist hay. When conditions are right the temperature mounts until the organisms that started the process are killed; from then on the heating is the result of chemical action—a slow oxidation when it is away from contact with the air and a rapid oxidation, or fire, when the heating area breaks through to the open air.

Danger Must Be Realized

When one of these fires breaks out there may be time to save the live stock, unless it occurs without warning in the night, but there is small chance of saving the structure and the feed stored in it. The danger of spontaneous combustion must be anticipated before the feed is stored. Most farmers know when hay is cured properly, but because of threatening weather or for some other reason some men compromise and put in feed that still contains too much moisture, sometimes giving themselves a false sense of security by scattering salt in the mow or stack. Moisture is the controlling factor whether it is rain that has fallen on the cut hay or water within the stems makes no difference. If the moisture content is low enough the hay will not heat to the danger point.

Clover Hays Troublesome

Alfalfa and clover and other hays made from rather succulent plants cause the most trouble from heating and they should be given particular care in curing. In some parts of the country where rains are frequent at haying time it is hard to get the hay into ideal condition. Some farmers cure it in cocks and use canvas caps but this is expensive in time and material. In humid regions the danger from spontaneous combustion in mows and stacks may be lessened by the use of a box-like ventilator, a skeleton tube 12 to 15 inches square and of any length desired, depending upon the size of the mow or stack. The corners are 2 by 4's and the crosspieces 1 by 3's placed close enough together to keep the hay from falling through and blocking the air passage. Diagonal braces are placed in the box at intervals to keep it from collapsing under the weight of the hay. These ventilators are usually placed across the mow at intervals of 7 or 8 feet.

In some localities curing frames or rips are used to hasten curing. They keep the hay loose and up off the ground so that the air may circulate freely through it.

Don't Stir Hay
When a mow or stack has become badly heated there is a strong temptation to go in and stir up the hay, but often this is the worst thing that can be done. Admitting air to the hot center of fermentation may be just the thing needed to start a fire. If air does not get in a part of the hay may be charred without starting a fire; gradually the mow cools and the only loss is the hay that has been carbonized. However, in the early stages when the hay is heating it is sometimes advisable to move hay from one mow to another or to restack. But be sure it is not too hot.

Slow combustion inside the mow can be detected by a peculiar sooty odor or by smoke that is irritating to the eyes. Danger of spontaneous combustion is not confined to hay. It may occur in damp fodder and straw, as well as in bins of moist grain and seeds. Cloth, waste and sawdust saturated with organic oil of any kind—linseed oil or cottonseed oil, for example—are even more subject to spontaneous combustion than hay. Such oily materials should not be allowed to accumulate or be left piled up in corners where the heat generated can not escape. Oiled mops or dust cloths used in the house and oily waste or rags used in the garage or about the barns should always be kept in metal containers with air-tight metal covers.

THE CHILD AND THE ANIMAL
Everyone knows how quickly the child's interest is aroused in the presence of an animal. He takes to it much more naturally than to one of his own kind. This seems to be instinctive in childhood, and within reasonable limits parents should encourage it. Children brought up with animal pets are bound to show the influence of that companionship throughout the rest of their lives, but it is of great importance that parents and others should teach young children how to handle these pets of which they really become so fond. They should be taken up not by the nape of the neck with all the rest of the body left dragging down, but picked up carefully in the arms so the whole body gets some support; they should not be squeezed and mauled about and their lives made unhappy by such usage while, while it may denote affection, often grows into carelessness as to the animal's welfare.

GERMS FUTURE WAR WEAPONS

Scientist Draws Dark Picture of Savagery That Will Be Part of Next Conflict.

Mobilization of the mosquito, the house-fly, the louse and various other disease-carrying pests for the dissemination of deadly germs in enemy territory is a possibility of "the next war" pictured by Prof. Maxwell Lefroy, a London scientist.

"I foresee the mosquito from Brazil starting yellow fever in new lands, the house-fly, duly infested with cholera, dysentery or enteric and the typhus-laden louse doing their deadly work much more effectively than spies poisoning wells," said Professor Lefroy in a recent address.

"This would be part of the work of a war office of entomologists—the working out of strategic plans for the distribution of these pests by airplane. It seems that the world is intent upon furnishing an airplane service for these pests, many of which are now held somewhat in check by natural enemies in their native climes. This will give them just the means of transit they have required. It will be a peace-time danger as well as one that could be used very effectively in war. The danger from these 'winged battalions of death' is more serious than one dare estimate."

Horace Edwards has several thrifty specimens of the Scotch thistle in his vegetable garden. The leaves are long and broad, with a mottled color scheme and carry the regulation thorn along the edge. The blossom differs little from our "bull thistle" common in pastures. The plant is a tender annual growing from seed and easily kept from becoming a pest. Mr. Edwards' father procured the seed many years ago and a few plants are raised every summer.

The Jester's Cap

By MYRTLE A. BARTON

(Copyright, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

The third time Mabel Blake saw Willard Bartley it was at a lawn party given at the home of his aged uncle, John Ordway. As he stood greeting the elder ladies who had been invited as friends of the owner of Grassmere, she decided the nephew was a most attractive young man. His rare grace and courtesy fascinated Mabel. She was glad she had come; she felt that she would be glad to come again.

In strong contrast to the smiling, pleasant junior nephew of John Ordway was his cousin, Matthew Dorr, also on the scene. The latter was stiff and formal, his voice was studied and deliberate, his facial expression was sour.

It was to Mabel that Willard came after he had made everybody agreeable as master of ceremonies. They had never spoken before except in casual greeting. Now they were irresistibly drawn, one to the other. Through one game of tennis Mabel felt that she had never had so delightful a partner. Then Willard was called to join the group about his uncle, and he became its life and center, and then the different sets broke up into little groups and Mabel found that her mother, having evidently formed a predilection in favor of the long-faced, solemn-eyed Dorr, had him at her table and indicated that she approved of the guest and wished Mabel to accept the fact as a guidance.

Mabel could not help but note the close attention Willard paid to his uncle. It seemed as though the young man never lost sight of his relative, or his moods, or his comfort. When conversation lagged with the group about the old man, Willard immediately discerned the fact and was on the spot with some humorous remark that aroused the coterie from dullness. As those present abandoned themselves to those chosen, the younger spirits of the party were led into a riot of dancing and athletic games by Willard who seemed bubbling over with fun and frolic. He kept his uncle good-natured and laughing most of the time with quip and caper; he gave some extravagant character sketches that he had seen on the stage. He engaged in a ludicrous mock boxing match with a chum, and Mrs. Blake looked severe and censorious, and Dorr wore a disdainful sneer on his lip. Mabel, who from her strict bringing up had a due sense of decorum and the proprieties, was somewhat abashed as the excellence of her whimsical hero seemed to center especially in Willard, unrestrained frolic.

"If Willard had a jester's cap, it would fitly crown the occasion," remarked Dorr with ill concealed malice. "I don't see how uncle stands him, for he needs quip and repose rather than hilarious excitement. Willard seems to have some motive in keeping uncle on a high strain that cannot but have a reaction."

"What does he mean, mamma?" inquired Mabel, later.

"Well, dear, as I understand it, Mr. Dorr is the son of a favorite sister of our host. It looks as though Willard was trying to crowd himself into the good graces of the rich old man with his tomfoolery, thinking to win his approbation by amusing him. I prefer the dignified character of Mr. Dorr myself," and when they departed for home later she severely scolded Mabel for having taken a stroll with Willard.

All the same Mabel thought fondly of the apparently gay and thoughtless young man, and the sentiment grew as through two summer months a round of community social functions brought them constantly together. It caused Mabel some wonder to understand why Mr. Ordway was also always a guest, and why Willard seemed to cater specially to his moods. Each time the latter came into evidence he seemed stronger, ruddier and happier. A transformation physically and mentally appeared to be going on. Dorr had courted Mabel industriously, but she had given him no encouragement. One day she came home to tell the reason why.

"Mamma," she said with palpable timidity, but with a happy ring to her tones, "Bartley and I have become engaged."

Mrs. Blake stormed and threatened. A pauper without prospects! An idle, headless jester! While Mr. Dorr, the model, was ready to wed her at any time. In forty-eight hours, however, developments startled Mabel and abashed the ambitious mother. Dorr, despairing of the demise of his uncle, involved in secret extravagance, forged his name.

It was just a week after that when Mabel received a most unexpected caller—John Ordway.

"My dear," he said, "I have come to congratulate and bless you. I find that young scapegrace relative of mine, Bartley, is a humbug, and I thought I ought to enlighten you. He and my doctor got up the precious scheme of having him play the comedian and joker to rouse me out of a hypochondriacal tendency that menaced my health. He has succeeded, but at the cost of being considered an impractical, empty-brained entertainer. The best evidence that he has balance and sense, however, is that he has selected the most charming girl in the county for his wife!"

If you have to label it common sense it isn't that.

Is Your Blood Good or Thin and Watery?

You can tell by the way you feel. You need Hood's Sarsaparilla to make your blood rich, red and pure, tingling with health for every organ. You need it if weak and tired day in and day out, if your appetite is poor, sleep unrefreshing, — for humors, boils, eruptions, scrofula, rheumatism, headaches, nervous prostration. It is simply wonderful to give strength to your whole body. It is agreeable, pleasant and convenient to take, and embodies a long-tried and found-true formula.

Plea For Better Movies

By Elva Dorr

Will H. Hayes, the new chief of the Motion Picture Industry, has said, "The industry accepts the challenge now upon them by the American public in the demand of the American youth that its pictures shall give the right kind of entertainment and instruction. It accepts the challenge in the little village and amusement of that youth be worthy of their value as the most potent factor in the country's future."
This statement was made about six months ago—is it not time that the right kind of entertainment began. To be sure lasting reforms work slowly but in this length of time should they not at least have commenced their good work?
So we are surprised to hear at this late date that "Polish Wives" is not only in existence but that it will soon be shown in our own village. It will take possible that the thinking public will stand for this picture to be shown to their young people!
Written and produced by one Von Stroum, German. The whole motive of the picture is of the lowest standard, the ruin of many, in fact every woman with whom the bogus, bankrupt, count comes in contact. Supposedly filmed at Monte Carlo but really taken at and around Point Lobos, Carmel-by-the-Sea.
The five hours ride from San Francisco, The Cave scene, one of disgusting realism, which even the above named California city asked to have "cut" and the ending, though fit for such a brute, is hardly the thing for our young people to see.
Ministers on the Pacific coast cried aloud against this film.
Expurgated editions raise the price of all pronographic literature and plays, probably the House will be "capacity" because of this criticism. It will take strong, fearless criticism on our part to fob off these vulgar, crude vampish plays. Of course all the old films will be palmed off on the public just as long as they will accept them. If the movies are really to be purified why not begin right now with the coming of "Polish Wives." Closed houses will bring the producer to his knees quicker than anything else. Boycott! But don't. We don't boycott anything until we have satisfied our purist curiosity.
A salacious book sells rapidly. Risque films sells the box office out. Whose the fault? Not all the producers. Only the other day a writer read an article by Will Hayes to the purport that it was up to the public themselves to purify the Movies. So it is.
What a fascination the lascivious sensual, banal, emotional books, plays, newspapers have for us all. Haven't we seen and heard enough about sex in its worst form to stay away from "Polish Wives"? Are we not tired of "Polish farces and tragedies? The stage has produced immoral plays goodness knows, but the Movies have furnished us with worse one for some of them are on a self respecting man or woman even, would be seen going to now a days.
When we rise up en masse and demand better pictures, clean films, we will have them. As long as we pay our money just so long will these inartistic bedroom American public and can't be forced to take the wrong medicine more than once.
We cry from our lips give us educational films, but our hearts, at the same time, beat for the intense and the forbidden.
There is nothing that shows the status of a community (of course that community is composed of you and me's) like the patronage of the Movies.

Michael Carbin

Michael Carbin, after about four weeks illness from a stroke of paralysis, passed away at the home of his friends, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter W. Gray, Wednesday, July
12. All of his relatives live in Lynn, Mass. and vicinity and an auto ambulance from there came and took him remains back there, his former home for the funeral on Saturday and burial in St. Joseph Cemetery beside his wife and two children.
Mike was 59 years old and a member of the Catholic church. His wife and children died more than twenty years ago and most of the time since then he has spent in this vicinity. He worked quite a number of years in the shoe shop in Norway and for the past thirteen years here for the Paris Mfg. Co. The mistakes gave flowers for his funeral. Mr.
Carbin was a kind hearted genial man with a plenty of quick Irish wit that would cause a laugh from any one he met.

a New "USCO"—
Better, Heavier, Longer Wearing 30x3½—$10.90 No Tax added

on Sale Now

USCO set the high value mark for 30 x 3½ tires when it originated the $10.90 price last fall.

USCO today betters that mark with a new and greater USCO—an USCO improved in many important ways.

For instance, a thicker tread—with a surer hold on the road—thicker side walls, adding strength and life to the tire.

And the price is $10.90—with the tax absorbed by the manufacturer.

Men have always looked to USCO for the biggest tire money's worth on the market.

They always get a bigger tire money's worth than they expect.

Battery Questions Answered

Why take the trouble to send your battery questions in to the automobile editor and then wait a week for your answer?

Our automobile page isn't printed. It's "talked". And you get the answer—the right answer just about as soon as you've finished asking the question.

And we're even better at repairing batteries—all kinds—and keeping them in shape, than at answering questions. Bring your battery in and we'll prove it.

SOUTH WATERFORD

Camp Wigwam

Camp Wigwam under the management of the owner, Lehman and Mandestam, is very lively just now. This camp is pleasantly situated on the East shore of Bear Lake in South Waterford and contains about 40 acres of land.

There are about 150 people there now, including help. They have all of the modern improvements, electric lights and running water all over the place. Their last improvement was to protect the large main building from lightning by the Shinn Fleet System of Chicago, installed by the G. I. Hamlin Co. The lake gives the boys a fine chance for boating, bathing and fishing. They have tennis courts and one for the larger boys and every other facility to keep the boys busy both physically and mentally. Take them as a whole they are a fine, healthy, happy lot of boys. When they first come their skin is white, in a short time they are well tanned. They soon become blessed with appetites. For one thing it takes 100 pounds of fowl and all the fixings to go with it for their Sunday dinner.

Merton Kimball has fed the fowl and F. H. Morse the milk and cream. They are obliged to buy most of their supplies in Portland. Their visiting days are Wednesday afternoon and all day Sunday, everybody is welcome.

Merchant Has Gained 15 Lbs.
Taking Tanlac

Bangor Citizen Was Unable To Hit A Lick of Work for Six Months And Says He Couldn't Have Lasted Much Longer.

"I can praise Tanlac and nothing else for my gain of fifteen pounds in weight and my present good health," said Osgood F. Sidelink, a well known fish dealer on Picketing Square, living at R. D. 7, Bangor, Me.

"I was in such a rundown condition and so weak that I would have to be helped out of bed and it was a burden for me to get around. My stomach was in such a bad fix I could get little more than enough nourishment to keep alive. I finally got down altogether and had to stop work for about six months, and knew that unless I got something to help me, I couldn't last much longer.

"Tanalac proved to be just what I needed, for it helped me right from the start. I'm just feeling like now, and put in a hard day's work every day. My customers notice the change and are all congratulating me on my remarkable improvement."

Tanalac is sold by all good druggists.

SUCH PAINS AS THIS WOMAN HAD

Two Months Could Not Turn in Bed.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Finally Restored Health

Seattle, Washington.—"I had dragging pains first and could not stand on my feet, then I had chills and fever and such pains in my right side and a hard lump there. I could not turn myself in bed and could not sleep. I was this way for over two months, trying everything any one told me, until my sister brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it regularly until all the hard pains had left me and I was able to be up and to do my work again. The hard lump left my side and I feel splendid in all ways. I know of many women it has helped."—Mrs. G. Richardson, 4640 Orcas St., Seattle, Washington.

This is another case where Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brought results after "trying everything any one told me" had failed.

If you are suffering from pain, nervousness and are always tired; if you are low spirited and good for nothing, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. You may not only relieve the present distress, but prevent the development of more serious trouble.

COME! SEE FOR YOURSELF

Demonstration

Next Door to Blue Store

Main Street, Norway

JULY 20, 21, 22

Miss Maud Ogden, an expert cook and demonstrator of home economics, will be at our store to explain more about electric cookery.

Come! See for yourself the simplicity and satisfaction of electric cookery.

You're Invited

Fourteen years experience in watching the successful development of the electric range convinces us that electric cookery is unquestionably safer, cleaner, cooler, easier, better and 1-3 cheaper than any other method.

We would not give such a sweeping endorsement unless we meant every word of it.

Over 500 families in our territory are cooking their meals electrically. In the Norway district alone there are 13 electric range homes. Homemakers thoroughly enjoy their ranges and they find electric cookery in all ways better and more economical.

During our range experience we've sold a variety of ranges but to our mind the name

Hotpoint
HUGHES
 ELECTRIC RANGE

now means supremacy in electric cookery.

The Hotpoint Hughes is more than a kitchen range; it is a perfected electrical appliance for preparing perfectly cooked food.

Electric Cookery
 is Safer Cookery

The dangers of open flame and escaping fumes are eliminated in the electric range. Explosions are unknown.—The mischief of a childish hand or the carelessness of the cook can, at most, cause only the loss of a little current.

Electric Cookery
 is Clean Cookery

No question about it.—The electric switch with a single turn does away with the ever-full ash pan, dusty coal hod, scattered kindlings, sooty, dirty walls and ceilings. Friend husband, especially appreciates these advantages. The electric range causes no more dirt or dust than your easy chair.

Electric Cookery
 is Cooler Cookery

The electric range concentrates its heat directly under the cooking utensil. There is no flame to raise the temperature of the room. The oven with its thick insulated walls retains all the heat and applies it evenly to beans, cakes, or roasts. Think of the comfort of cooking in hot summer weather.

Electric Cookery Is Easier

The snap of a switch "builds" your fire to "low," "medium" or "high," just as you need it. Accurate thermometers give you an exact regulation of heat. The Hotpoint Hughes Electric Range almost thinks for you. And surely that's easier.

Electric Cookery Is Better

Better cooking is cooking freed from all anxiety as to results—cooking that is done in Comfort—cooking that is clean and that permits clean surroundings—cooking that is economical and that prevents shrinkage while retaining the finest flavor and the whole-food value of the dish. These are the characteristics of electric cooking.

Electric Cookery Is
 1-3 Cheaper

Long after your heat is turned off you can continue cooking from stored heat because the thick-walled oven acts like a fireless cooker. The electric oven, too, saves at least 15 per cent. shrinkage in meat bills. Practical and scientific experiments prove that, at our 3-cent rate, electricity is 1-3 cheaper than coal.—Average monthly bills are about $4.50.

BRYANT'S POND
Mrs. Emily J. Felt returned home from Rumford, Friday, where she visited with Lena over a week.
Last Saturday morning Orison G. Bryant of Los Angeles, California gave his sister, Emily Felt, a surprise, by walking in. He was here 20 years ago. Mr. Bryant went from Woodstock in the spring of 1865 to Minnesota and in 1884 he went with his family to Los Angeles, Calif., where he has since lived. He is a true friend to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bird and son Clarence came to visit Mrs. Ned I. Swan, July 2nd in their automobile, after a few days. Mr. Bird returned home and Mrs. Bird and Clarence returned last Monday. Mrs. Swan went with them in their auto as far as Portland.

Lena M. Felt and Archie D. Felt of Loviston were on Sunday guests of their mother last Sunday. They came to visit with their uncle from California.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Crooker are here to spend their vacation. Mr. Crooker will remain in Berwick another year.

The Radcliffe Chautauque closed last Tuesday night, it was a grand success, a large number signed up for its next year.

Mrs. Myra Cole of California and Mrs. Etta Tilton of Worcester, Mass., have arrived here. Mrs. Cole is staying with Mrs. Angie Berry and Mrs. Tilton is with Mrs. Harry Estes.

Mrs. George Hamlen of Lewiston is staying with her son Charles E. Hamlen. Mrs. Mae Taylor of Shelburne, N. H., is working for Emily Felt, while Miss Luve Cole is taking a vacation.

BETHEL
The abundant rain gave some of our farmers the promise of the largest hay crop ever known. Fields which had never given a very abundant crop this year seemed trying to outdo all former records and they made good.

The haymakers are now busy when the weather permits. One day of sunshine gives them a good start but a shower Tuesday of this week wet down many loads of good hay about ready to go in. A while ago men were calling for something to do, now it is hard to find a spare man when he is wanted. Many small jobs are waiting for men.

The new brick block on Main street is getting up to the second story.
The work of shingling houses and other building is going on all over the village, which makes business seem lively.

Summer visitors have come and many are on the way. Home residents who can are on their way to the seashore or summer camps and the people met on the streets are about evenly divided between residents and visitors.

The new schoolhouse at West Bethel is up and closed in and roof shingled so the men can work inside. The building is large and will be an ornament to the village.

Rev. and Mrs. Edwin Parlin spoke at the Methodist Church on Sunday night. It was an inspiring address. They have just returned from that country where they have been missionaries.

Mrs. Alice Deering spoke Sunday evening at the Congregational church on her work among the Spanish-Americans in New Mexico. She is a native of Bethel and a sister of H. N. Upton, whom she is visiting this summer.

Mrs. Emily J. Philbrook of Wellsboro, formerly of Bethel, fell in her home and broke her arm.

The Foreign Missionary Society will meet at the home of Miss John Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Parlin who have lately returned from China will show many curios taken from that place. The Standard Bearers will also be guests.

District Supt. D. B. Holt was present at the Methodist Church Tuesday evening to attend the Quarterly Conference. The Ladies' Circle met at the chapel, Wednesday afternoon.

Glades Jenner has gone to North Bridgton where she has employment.
Mrs. H. S. Jordy went to Mechanic Falls, Monday.

Ethel Bennett has gone to Poplar Tavern where she is doing table work.
W. H. Thurston and family motored around the White Mountains Sunday.

Alton Richardson from Durham, N. H., is the guest of relatives in town.
Howard Hutchins who was taken to the McCarty hospital two weeks ago, was taken to his father's home on Broad street, Monday.

Bean's Corner
John Anderson of Portland is spending several weeks at Harold Hutchins'. Mr. and Mrs. Tripp spent the week end in East Sumner.

Devis Field has gone to Prospect Harbor where she will be the guest of relatives for a few weeks.
Mrs. MacDowell and daughter Dorothy of Portland are stopping at Guy Bartlett's.

Wm. Johnson and Florence Johnson were with their sister Mrs. Harold Hutchins July 16th.
Keith Field and party from Rumford called on his sister, Mrs. A. L. Swan and family, July 16th.

Mrs. Tavia Bean has returned home from Phillips; her son L. F. Bean accompanied her home for a short visit.
Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Bean and two children of Rumford spent July 16th with Mrs. Mrs. Harold Hutchins.

Geo. Harrington has gone to Mexico to work.

GYPSY MOTHS KILLED BY RAINS
By way of offering some little consolation to the people of the state who have been feeling blue because of the continuous rains for the past few weeks, the state department reports that millions of caterpillars of the gypsy moth have been killed by the rains and that the state is free now of this destructive pest than it has been for many years.

In some places the insects are reported to have been almost exterminated, but no general survey has been made and it is impossible to tell just how great the destruction has been. The state will save several thousands of dollars as a result of this extermination.
